HUMOUR – John and Peter sharing some banter

Mary; Are you going to sit down and eat some breakfast?

John; (Distracted) What... Oh yes... sorry... (excitedly) You know I really got into the writing last night. (Sits at table)

Mary; (Arches eyebrow, relieved) Well ... good. (Mary walks away)

John; (Munching on breakfast and lifting his voice to Mary)

I was remembering

Suddenly there is a knock on the door which Mary goes to open

Mary. (with surprise) Mary!!

John: (Jumps up) Maryits only Mary Magdalene (said with boyish humour- goes over to give her a big hug)

Mary Magdalene And guess who I bumped into on the way? (Peter comes in behind her)

Mary: (again with surprise) Peter.! (Mary hugs him)

John: (goes over to hug Peter) You wont believe this, but I was just thinking about you two.

Mary: John's writing a book you know?

Peter: What about..... Don't tell me – “Fishing Made Easy” (laughs and then turning to the two Marys Getting your brother James to do all work while you have a sleep) No okay then its “The One That Got Away” And there's been a few of them.

John: Very funny. Listen my brother and me could catch more fish in a morning than you and Andrew could catch in a month.

Peter: You're lucky my brother is not here otherwise he would give you a good hiding. In fact I think I will (Peter playfully chases John trying to grab him) .

You wait till I catch you... you youngyoung (Peter cant think of what to call him)

John: Young Fishman of the year!!

Peter: Grrr
